The Forest Legacy Program protects important forest lands by purchasing conservation easements or fee titles from willing landowners whose lands are threatened with conversion to nonforest uses. Forest Legacy properties offer recreational opportunities, watershed protection, timber resources, wildlife habitat, and protection from development.

Forest Legacy Program Synopsis

Program Purpose

The purpose of the Forest Legacy Program (FLP) is to protect environmentally important forest areas that are threatened by conversion to nonforest uses.

Program Description

The Forest Legacy Program is a partnership between participating States and the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. These entities work together to identify important forest lands and protect them for future generations.

Conservation easements are the primary tool used to achieve this goal. Priority is given to lands that have important scenic or recreational values; riparian areas; fish and wildlife values, including threatened and endangered species; or other ecological values.

Program Characteristics

- The Forest Legacy Program is entirely voluntary. It operates only in States that have elected to join the program.
- The program helps States and regions identify important forest areas. Lands targeted for protection must fall within designated Forest Legacy Areas.
- State and local partners select priority tracts in cooperation with the Forest Service.
- The program is based on a “willing seller and willing buyer” concept.
- When conservation easements are used, the land remains privately owned.
- Other protection tools include full-fee purchase, voluntary deed restrictions, covenants, and agreements.
- The interests in land may be held by the Federal government or by the State or a unit of local government if the State chooses to select the State Grant Option as authorized by the 1996 Farm Bill.
- When the Federal government holds the easement, State or local units of government agree to administer the lands or interests in lands.
- The lands and interests are held in perpetuity. In the case of interests in land, there is no loss of the Federal investment resulting from change of ownership.
- Forest Stewardship Plans that meet the landowner’s objectives for natural resource management and describe actions to protect the important environmental values for which the land was enrolled in the FLP are prepared on all privately owned tracts.
- The tracts acquired can remain “working forests” and can forever provide forest resources to meet the needs of the local community and the Nation.

Forest Legacy Program of Northeastern Area State and Private Forestry

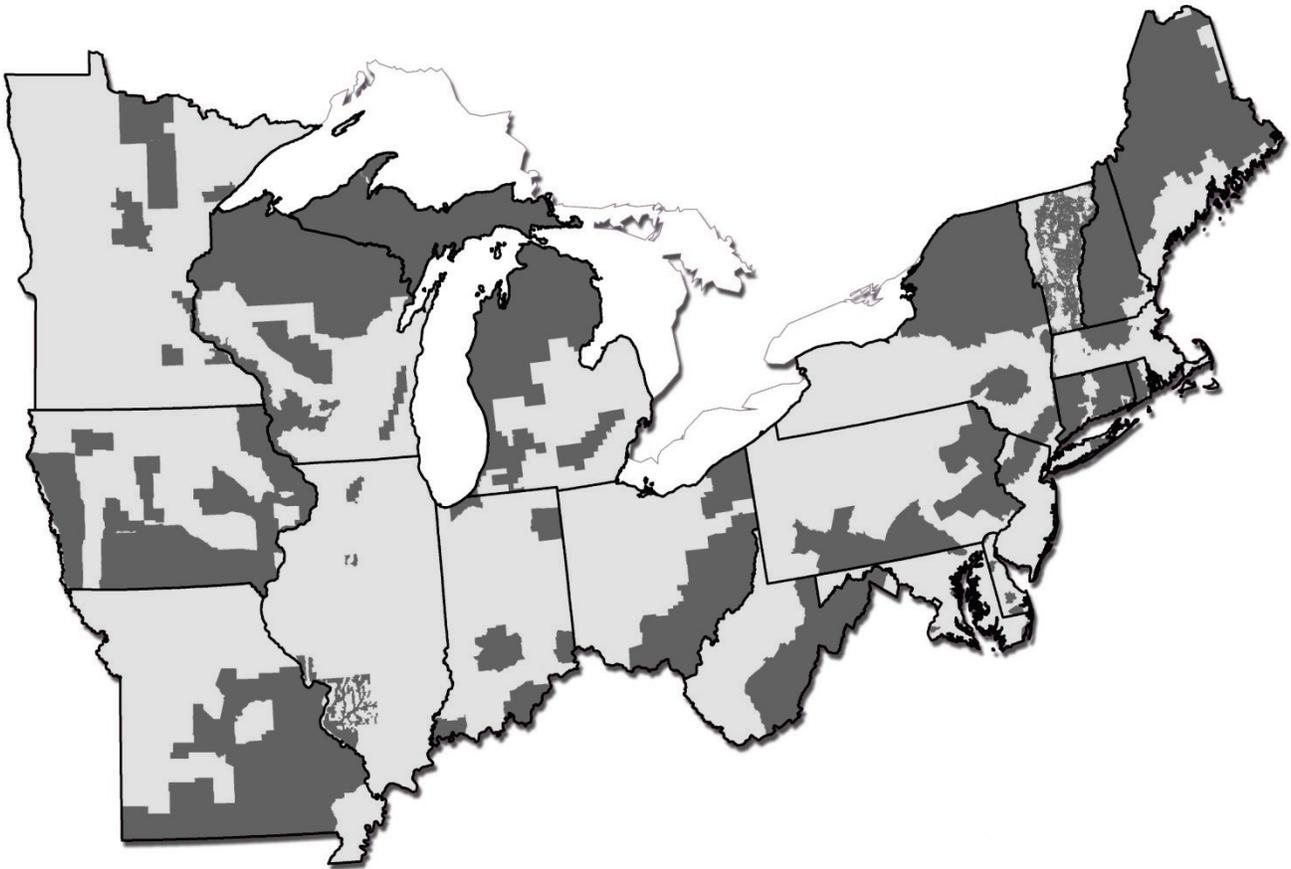

This report outlines program activity and accomplishments in the 20 States served by Northeastern Area State and Private Forestry (NA S&PF), a unit of the Forest Service, in Fiscal Year (FY) 2011 (October 1, 2010–September 30, 2011).

- All 20 States served by NA S&PF have voluntarily joined the Forest Legacy Program.
- In FY 2011, accomplishments occurred in eight of the States served by NA S&PF, where a total of 119,238 acres was protected from conversion to nonforest uses. NA S&PF's cumulative FLP accomplishments since 1993 total 1,537,024 acres on 406 tracts through September 30, 2011. The total Federal FLP investment of $252,438,000 in the States served by NA S&PF has protected forests valued at $525,290,000 through conservation easements and fee acquisitions since 1993.

- The national appropriations for the Forest Legacy Program and NA S&PF's share over the past 5 years are as follows:

Year	National FLP Appropriations	NA S&PF FLP Share
2008	$52,316,000	$23,277,000
2009	$49,445,000	$31,235,000
2010	$76,460,000	$28,565,000
2011	$52,894,000	$25,450,000
2012	$53,388,000	$15,730,000

Properties considered for inclusion in the Forest Legacy Program must be located within a State's designated Forest Legacy Area (shaded as dark areas on the map).

Partner Roles

The Federal Role

The significance of the public benefits of a particular forest ranges from local to national in scope. Larger forests tend to be nationally significant because as forest size decreases, the values they provide diminish. Extensive forest areas are often subject to the additional challenge of multiple ownerships and numerous political jurisdictions. Through the FLP, the Federal government helps State and local governments look beyond their political boundaries to identify important forest areas. The Federal government provides oversight, and financial and technical assistance to help protect important forests.

The State Role

States integrate partner resources to cooperatively protect and maintain a forest land base. The lead agency, usually the State forestry agency, carries out the FLP in the State. Responsibilities include the following:

- Collecting information to identify and delineate important forest areas that may be selected as Forest Legacy Areas.
- Consulting with the State Forest Stewardship Coordinating Committee to achieve program purposes.
- Maintaining Federal standards while conducting land acquisition activities.
- Integrating policies and incentives to conserve a forest land base.
- Holding and administering the lands or interests in land that enter the FLP.
- Monitoring tracts for program compliance.

The State Forest Stewardship Coordinating Committee Role

The State Forest Stewardship Coordinating Committee's role is identified in the Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act. Its duties for the FLP, identified in the act and FLP guidelines, include:

- Establishing eligibility criteria and recommending Forest Legacy Areas in the Assessment of Need process.
- Prioritizing lands for inclusion in the FLP.

- Advising the State lead agency to achieve FLP objectives.

The Nongovernmental Organization (Land Trust) Role

Nongovernmental organizations, specifically land trusts or similar organizations, have a distinct relationship with the FLP. Because of their compatible interest in protecting land for conservation purposes, land trusts can be a primary contact with landowners to negotiate the purchase of conservation easements and to monitor the conservation easements once they are enrolled in the FLP. Lands acquired by or donated to land trusts may be counted toward the non-Federal cost-share amount of total program costs, provided the interests in lands contribute to the goals of the Forest Legacy Program and the lands are located within a Forest Legacy Area.

The Landowner Role

Landowner participation in the FLP is voluntary. A landowner joins the program either by conveying interests in lands to achieve the conservation objectives of the FLP or by purchasing or inheriting land that has already been committed to an FLP conservation easement. The landowner becomes a primary practitioner in maintaining the forest land base by implementing management activities guided by a Forest Stewardship Plan to conserve the values for which the land entered the program.

Federal, State, local, and nonprofit partners are critical to ensuring the successful completion of Forest Legacy projects. Partners gathered in New York at the Tahawus Forest Legacy project.

Forest Legacy Projects Completed During FY 2011

In FY 2011, accomplishments occurred in eight of the States served by Northeastern Area State and Private Forestry (NA S&PF). A total of 119,238 acres was protected from conversion to nonforest uses. NA S&PF's cumulative FLP accomplishments since 1993 totaled 1,537,024 acres on 406 tracts through September 30, 2011. The total Federal FLP investment of $252,438,000 in the States served by NA S&PF has protected forests valued at $525,290,000 through conservation easements and fee acquisitions.

FY 2011 accomplishments of the Northeastern Area State and Private Forestry Forest Legacy Program, including projects in the States of Delaware, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Wisconsin, are highlighted on the following pages.

Green Horizons VI – Delaware

On January 26, 2011, the Delaware Forest Service completed its sixth phase (of seven total phases) of the Green Horizons project with the purchase of the 377-acre Hughes & Jones tract from the Glatfelter Pulp Wood Company. These former industrial working forest lands are now part of the 11,835-acre Redden State Forest located just north of Georgetown in Sussex County. The fee simple price for this tract was $2,700,000, of which the FLP provided $2,000,000, the State of Delaware Open Space Program provided $466,500, and the Longwood Foundation contributed $233,500. The Delaware Forest Service will continue managing these loblolly pine forest lands for timber production in an effort to support a local forest industry on the Delmarva Peninsula. In addition, the entire 377-acre tract will have complete public access for a variety of activities.

Hills of Gold II – Indiana

The Hills of Gold II tract is an example of Forest Legacy at its best. This 155-acre parcel was threatened by development because a 27-lot subdivision had already been planned. The current owner, Al Meyer, purchased the tract at a land auction in hopes of expanding his adjoining 460-acre Hills of Gold tract protected in 2003 by the FLP. The Indiana Division of Forestry completed the purchase of a conservation easement on the Hills of Gold II tract in Brown County, Indiana, in April 2010. Today the property is actively managed for timber production and has forest certification through the American Tree Farm System and Forest Stewardship Council. The total value of the project was $402,000 and the State acquired the property for $314,575 at a bargain sale from the landowner. On February 4, 2011, after all FLP standards were met, the State was reimbursed by the FLP.

Katahdin Forest Expansion – Millinocket Forest – Maine

The State of Maine’s fee acquisition of the 5,061-acre Millinocket Forest Public Reserved Land tract now guarantees sustainable long-term contributions to the fiber supply for mills in northern Maine. As part of the Katahdin Forest Expansion FLP project, this new acquisition builds on the landscape-scale forest and habitat matrix of the 194,000-acre Katahdin Forest FLP project completed in 2006, along with adjacent lands of Baxter State Park and private conservation holdings of The Nature Conservancy. The Millinocket Forest tract in Township 2, Range 8, in northern Penobscot County, Maine, closed on March 4, 2011. The tract was acquired from Elliotsville Plantation, Inc., for the appraised value of $2,160,528 with the assistance of the Trust for Public Land. Funding sources included $617,760 from the Land for Maine’s Future program, $400,000 from the North American Wetlands Conservation Act through the United States Fish & Wildlife Service, and $1,142,768 from the U.S. Forest Service FLP.

Katahdin Forest Expansion – Hunt Farm – Maine

The 2,849-acre Hunt Farm conservation easement provides permanent deeded protection for motorized recreational trails, sustainable forest management, and public access for hunting. As part of the Katahdin Forest Expansion project funded through the FLP, this new conservation easement also enhances the landscape-scale forest goals of the Katahdin Forest working forest conservation easement. The Hunt Farm tract in Township 3, Range 9, in northern Penobscot County, Maine, closed on March 4. The easement was acquired by the State of Maine from landowner Elliotsville Plantation, Inc., for the appraised value of $514,198 with the assistance of the Trust for Public Land. Funding sources included $144,907 from the Land for Maine’s Future program and $369,291 from the U.S. Forest Service FLP.

Southern Monadnock Plateau I – Massachusetts

The sale of a 30-acre forested parcel on Foster Road in Ashby to the Town of Ashby’s Conservation Commission on October 28, 2010, marked the successful completion of the Massachusetts Southern Monadnock Plateau (SMP) Phase I FLP project. The tract was purchased from the estates of David and Mary Damon for the appraised value of $170,000 with FLP funds. Additional non-Federal cost share was achieved through the acquisition of other tracts in the SMP project. The Damon tract joins 11 other completed tracts of fee and conservation easement acquisitions, which protect a total of 1,162 acres of forests over a several mile-wide expanse of rolling hills and waterways in north-central Massachusetts. The total value of the project acquisitions is $3,652,742, which used $2,679,418 in FLP funds.

Southern Monadnock Plateau II – Massachusetts

The sale of a 38-acre forested parcel in Ashby, MA, from landowner Michael Bussell to the Massachusetts Department of Fish and Game on April 28, 2011, marked the successful completion of the first tract in the Massachusetts Southern Monadnock Plateau Phase Two (SMP II) FLP project. The forested tract, located in both the city of Fitchburg and the Town of Ashby, was purchased in fee for $100,000 in FLP funds. The Bussell tract will eventually be joined by more than a dozen other tracts of fee and conservation restriction acquisitions, which will protect a total of approximately 1,900 acres of forest over a several mile-wide expanse of rolling hills and waterways in north-central Massachusetts. Non-Federal cost share will be achieved through the bargain sales of these other SMP II project tracts.

The forests of the Bussell tract will continue to provide clean water and wildlife habitat in north-central Massachusetts.

Koochiching – Minnesota

Phases 2 and 3 of the Koochiching Forest Legacy project were completed on December 1, 2010, by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. The combined 76,249 acres of these two phases of the project are in addition to the already completed 51,163-acre Phase 1 project. The conservation easements for all phases have been acquired from the landowner, Meriwether Minnesota, LLC. The FLP contributed $9,956,000 of the $13,796,482 appraised value needed to close these two phases of this project with the non-Federal cost share provided by an appropriation from the Minnesota Legislature. The forests of Koochiching are a key provider of timber to the paper mill in International Falls, MN, and provide public recreational access for hunting, fishing, snowmobiling, and other uses.

Hoxsie Farm – Rhode Island

The Pawcatuck Borderlands project area is one of the largest undeveloped areas along the coast in southern New England. In February 2010, the Rhode Island Department of Environmental Management, in partnership with The Nature Conservancy and the Champlin Foundations, acquired a conservation easement on the 117-acre property of Carolyn Hoxsie and Georgianna Brennan in Hopkinton, RI. The Hoxsie property is adjacent to the 700-acre Canonchet Brook Forest, of which 471 acres was protected by the FLP on June 20, 2003. The property was appraised at $510,000; the landowners sold the conservation easement to the State at a bargain sale for $459,000. Additional cost share was met through the State acquisition of another tract. After all FLP standards were met on February 17, the FLP reimbursed the State $459,000.

The 117 acres of the Hoxsie FLP tract is adjacent to 471 acres of forest land previously protected by a conservation easement with the FLP.

Eden Forest – Vermont

A forest consisting of 5,720 acres has been protected in the Towns of Eden and Johnson in northwestern Vermont. On November 1, 2010, the State of Vermont purchased a conservation easement from the landowner, Green Crow Cotswold, LLC. Protection of the Eden Forest tract creates 30,000 acres of contiguous conserved forest in Vermont's northern woods, including the adjacent Long Trail State Forest, Babcock Nature Preserve, and Atlas Timberlands. The conservation easement purchase establishes a protected buffer for 4 miles of the Long Trail, including a popular stretch across Belvidere Mountain. The $3,950,000 appraised value of the conservation easement was funded through the FLP. Cost share to the FLP funds was from acquisitions totaling 2,239 acres, which did not have any Federal funding for the acquisitions, valued at $1,490,000.

Green Mountain Wildlife Corridor – Vermont

The Vermont Department of Forests, Parks and Recreation partnered with The Conservation Fund to complete the purchase of a conservation easement (CE) on 444 acres of private forests, ridgeline, and vista near the village of Plymouth. The CE was purchased from the landowner, the Farm & Wilderness Foundation, which operates an outdoor camp for children. Adjacent to Coolidge State Forest, the protected tract is critical to linking core black bear breeding habitat as well as protecting headwater streams of the Ottauquechee River. The property, which boasts a rich hardwood forest, will continue to be sustainably harvested for its high-value timber. The easement was purchased at its appraised value of $425,000 using all FLP funds on May, 31, 2011. The cost share is being met with the acquisition of other forest lands in Vermont that are being purchased without the use of Federal funds.

These hardwood forests are growing on slopes that lead down to the Woodward Reservoir on the Green Mountain Wildlife Corridor FLP project.

Wild Rivers – Wisconsin

A tract sustainably managed for over 80 years for high-value northern hardwood timber was protected when Wisconsin acquired two conservation easements in July 2008 and August 2009. The easements, totaling 14,576 acres, are located in Forest and Marinette Counties in northeastern Wisconsin and were acquired from the landowners, Conservation Forestry, LLC, and Forest Investment Associates. The 14,576 acres acquired with the assistance of the FLP, known locally as the Goodman tract, are vital to both the local and regional economy and provide habitat for several threatened and endangered species, including migrant songbirds, wolves, and red-shouldered hawks. Public access will continue to be allowed on this property. These conservation easements, valued at $7,648,000, were purchased by the State through a bargain sale of $6,090,992 of which $4,601,000 was from Federal FLP funding and the remaining $1,489,992 came from the State of Wisconsin Knowles-Nelson Stewardship fund. After all FLP standards were met on December 17, 2010, the FLP reimbursed the State $4,601,000.

Chippewa Flowage I – Wisconsin

Phase I of the Chippewa Flowage FLP project was completed on April 6, 2011. This conservation easement acquisition protects 8,096 acres in Sawyer County in northern Wisconsin. This Wisconsin Northwoods jewel is part of a conservation effort that will protect more than 18,000 acres of productively managed hardwood and pine forests. The protection of this property is critical to forest connectivity in northern Wisconsin, where nearly 1 million acres of forested and natural lands adjacent to the FLP tract are managed by the Chequamegon-Nicolet National Forest, the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, and the Lac Courte Oreille Band of Lake Superior Chippewa. This conservation easement, purchased from landowner Plum Creek Timberlands, L.P., restricts development while ensuring the property remains forested. The conservation easement was acquired using $1,500,000 in FLP funds and $2,150,000 from the State of Wisconsin Knowles-Nelson Stewardship land acquisition fund.

The forests on the Chippewa Flowage FLP project provide forest products and habitat for a variety of bird species, including this chickadee.
